DICKINSON'S FUNERAL. GREAT STREET PARADE.

at a Funeral in Todd County.

County.

The funeral of Marshal John C Dickinson, of Trenton, was held Tuesday and was marked by the largest attendance ever known in the town where he lived.

The death of Dickinson has caused feeling to run high against the negro, Godfrey Ray, who murdered him. The places of the worn-out searchers, who have been on his trail since the shooting occurred, were taken by others from this place, Trenton and Elkton. A reward of $200 for Ray, dead or alive, was raised by Trenton citzens and Gov. Beckham was asked to increase this amount to $500 by Merill Raissell, of Elkton, Representative of Todd county in the Legislature, Ray is still a fugitive and is believed to be in hiding in the woods along Red river in Montgomery county. Tenn.

A negro arrested at Sebree Tuesday proved to be the wrong one and was turned loose.

stable on the river bank, fronting on Elm street, has sued the city of Hop-kinsville for $1,000 damages because water ran into his stable during the heavy rain last week, which was so heavy that some busness houses on Main street had water to run into them. He claims that the grading of Elm street was made so high that it causes water to run through the stable. The stable is on very low ground, with no sidewalk in front high enough to keep out the water.

M. E. Nolen, who had some salt stored in the stable, has also brought suit for $0.175, for 47 barrels of salt alleged to have been ruined.

PROFANE SWEARERS

Get Pulled Quite Often For Their Foul Oaths.

Profane language is objectionable to everyone, even to some of the biggest "cussers" themselves. But to everyone, even to some or the biggest 'cussers' themselves. But some of them do not seem to know that there is a fine for swearing in public. Yet they are beginning to find it out at the cost of their pock-et-books. During the month of August there were eight or ten of them agrested and fined for this of-tense against the law and dignity of the commonwealth. Already the names of persons addicted to this foul and useless habit, are beginning to show up on the "slate" at the police station. Shed Wallace, a ne', gro, got his name on the docket of the city court last Monday morning. Officer Merritt, who took him in hand, says that the negro. 'cussed out all of East Ninth street' for some imaginary clause. Judge hand, says that the nerro "cussed out all of East Ninth street" for some imaginary cause. Judge Brasher assessed a fire against him, which with the trimmings in the way of costs, amounted to $8. Shed did not have a very plethoric purse that day and was only saved from doing work for the city by the kindness of a white friend standing for heavily the same possible of the control of the control

The Third District editors met last week at Bowling Green and organized a district association. C. C. Pare, of Franklin, was elected President and W. J. Denhart, of Bowling Green, Secy. Another meeting will be held Sept. 24, to adopt a constitution.

The Maine Democrats did not car The Maine Democrats did not car-ry the state but they cut the Repub-lican majority down from 25,000 to 8,000. Gov. Cobb was re-elected by that majority and Congressman Littlefield, in whose district the fight was hottest, bad his majority cut down from 4,800 to less than 1,000.

Jesse Fitzgerald, the negro who was convicted last month of the murder of Mrs. Robert Broughton, and for whese protection from mob violence three companies of State Guards were sent to Barbourville, will not hang September 21, according to the sentence. His lawyers are now taking an appeal and before the expiration of the limit his case will go before the court of appeals. And thus does the law's delay step in to add to the feeling of complacency with which lynch law is regarded by those who believe in the Bible doctrine of "An eye for an eye."

"Nast's Historical Paintings" fur "Nast's Historical Paintings" fun-nishes the title for one of the inter-esting articles of the month, which appears in the National Magazine for September. Leigh Leslie re-veals, for perhaps the first time, the craving ambition of Thomas Nast to be known to future genera-tions, not only as a pictorial satirist, but as a historical painter, as well tions, not only as a pictorial satirist, but as a historical painter as well. The latter smbition was not fully realized, alhough Nast produced a number of splendid historical paintings, among them being "Peace Again," "The Departure of the Seventh Regiment of New York," "Appomatox," "Lincoln Entering Richmond," The historical significance of these and other paintings is outlined by Mr. Leslie's article, and handsome half-toned illustrations are the means of reproducing the pictures.

improved pattern and are sold at an intermediate price. The best reserved numbered seats are modern, up-to-date, comfortable opera chairs, placed upon a platform so solidly and substantially constructed that a child could play hide-and-seek on it without danger or injury. The Barnum & Bailey circus is the only traveling show in the world that furnishes seats of this character, and while it means the employment of many more men to handle them and the utilization of several extra railway cars to carry the paraphernalia the cost has been more than justified."

There is little doubt that those who witness the performance of the Barnum & Bailey circus when the big show exhibits in Hopkinsville, Sept. 26, will have their enjoyment enhanced by the management's careful preparation for their comfort and afety. The show, it is amounced, will present all the new features here, just as soon in New York during the opening engagement of the season. These include the "Dip of Death;" the aerial automobile sensation; the "Two Twirks of Terror," in which mid-air somersualits are turned by daring wheelmen; the new "Peace" spectacle, and a long list of riding, acrobatic, aerial and trained animal novelties.

South Kentucky's future has begun and it is evident that it will outstrip the past in its care and education of the young of the present generation. All praise to the indomitable Kuykendall and Smith, the untiring board of trustees and all who have in any way, financially or otherwise, been instrumental in the rebuilding and enlargement of this institution of learning. May your efforts and patience never again be taxed in the same direction.

It has for sometime been the intention of the same direction.

It has for sometime been the intention of the management of the institution to throw the doors of the new buildings open to the public that it might see what an almost marvel of beauty, cleanliness, convenience and perfect adaptation has been constructed for the young who come here for an education. This public reception, for many reasons, has been deferred for a time, but Prof. Kuykendall said yesterday that in the near future our people would surely have the opportunity of inspecting the buildings and everything connected with the grand edifine which has been evolved from standing bare walls, piles of debris and ruin generally, as well as the modern dormitory, for housing the lady pupils.

The Land of BIGICROPS and PROSPERITY

Are you making as much off your farm as you ought? No doubt you are making all you CAN. The trouble is the land costs too much. It takes too much money to trya big farm, and so you are trying to make a living on a small farm, or perhaps you are renting one and paying a good share of what you raise, in rent Wouldn't it be better to go where the price of good land is so little that you can own a big farm—where every acre of the ground is working for you and all you.

There are thousands of acres of fertile land in the Southwest along the line of the Cotton Belt Route that can be bought for from $3 to $10 an acre. This land is increasing in value each year.
